

FINAL1 Spatial vessel representations provide reproducible complementary predictive information; five scalar vascular summaries show little incremental value beyond learned image representations

